UAB International Tracks (IT) are packs of subjects, mainly at undergraduate degree level but sometimes also on Master's degrees, related either to a particular topic or interdisciplinary area. These tracks can count for between 24 and 30 ECTS credits and are taught entirely in English during the first or second term of the academic year, depending on the track. Besides the study component, most ITs also focus on research. The aim of this programme is to give international students from different academic disciplines the opportunity to study for a full semester in Barcelona.

ITs ensure that there is compatibility with the timetable and that the transferable credits appear on the certification. The topics covered in ITs may be specific to an area or central theme, or interdisciplinary. Apart from the central topic of the track, students can take another subject in arts and humanities and social sciences, as a complementary course.
